

After all the trials and errors,
It has come to fore,
Whatever future has in store,
Its never going to be as before.

The doctors nurses and hospital staff,
Work incessantly round the clock,
They deserve our heartfelt gratitude,
May God Bless such attitude.

We need to do our bit,
And good citizens become,
Help out people in need,
together this ~~malady~~ overcome.

Good Morning Respected Principal Sir, honourable Judges,
Teachers and all my friends.

I'm Riya Deshmukh from 11th A here to speak on the topic impact of covid-19 on people's livelihood, their health and our food systems.

2 years before people were talking about this thing called coronavirus. That night, I had no idea what it was.
I was doing my studies and suddenly my mom walked in and gave me some news. There's no school tomorrow.
At first I was happy but ^{when} I knew that Friday was supposed to be last day of my school days. In these 2 years, people had loss of life, impact on mental health problems, and on livelihoods and this was just like a nightmare for everyone.

The covid-19 pandemic had led to a dramatic loss of human life worldwide and presented an unprecedented challenge to public health, food systems and the world of work. The economic and social disruption caused by the pandemic is devastating.

Informal economy workers's Livelihood are particularly vulnerable because the majority lack social protection and access to health care and have lost access to productive assets.

Without the means to earn an income during lockdown many were unable to feed themselves and their families. The pandemic has affected the entire food system and has laid bare its fragility. Border closures, trade restrictions and confinement measures have been preventing farmers from accessing markets, including for buying inputs and selling their produce, thus disrupting domestic and international food supply chains and reducing access to healthy, safe and diverse diets.

This pandemic has decimated jobs and placed millions of livelihoods at risk. Today things are getting normal, offline school colleges have started. The new normal life has started.

As breadwinners lose jobs, fall ill and die, the food security and nutrition of millions of women and men are under threat with whose in low income countries, particularly the most marginalized populations, which include small-scale farmers and indigenous people, being hardest hit.

Millions of agricultural workers - waged and self employed while feeding the world, regularly face high levels of working poverty, malnutrition and poor health and suffer from a lack of safety and labour protection as well as other types of abuse.

Migrant agricultural workers are particularly vulnerable because they face risk in their transport, working and living conditions and struggle to access support measures put in place by government.

Immediate and purposeful action to save lives and livelihoods should include extending social protection towards universal health coverage and income support for those most affected.

Today things are getting normal, offline school colleges have started. The new normal life has started. I would like to end my speech with a

We may be young or old
But we must be bold
Against the enemy untold
We can't go to malls
Nor can we go to waterfalls

Because this virus is a scaring,
Sending our spines into a shivering
If you have to go out think twice Wear your mask, be wise.
And wash your hands thrice.
Covid-19 is the name
It is playing hide & seek game.
By following the rules, we can ensure end game.

Thank You!
